<sup>2</sup> The Geographically Updated Population Certification Program (GUPCP) re-tabulates Census 2000 population and housing counts within new boundaries that became effective after January 1, 2000 (the date for boundaries reported in original Census 2000 counts). The geographically updated certified counts include only the population and housing units that existed and were counted at the time of Census 2000. It does not include counts for new housing or group quarters.

<sup>3</sup> The Special Census Program is an actual enumeration of housing units and group quarters of a specific area, conducted on a specified date. Unlike the GUPCP counts, Special Census counts include new housing units and population that came into the area after Census 2000. The Special Census also produces demographic detail for the population.
